The Ethics of Unfounded Science in the Courtroom

An ETHICS and EATS Seminar

Friday, DECEMBER 2

11 a.m. – 1:15 p.m.
Africa Room, Duquesne Union
Duquesne University

Join us on Friday, DEC. 2 for “Forensic Failures: The Ethics of Unfounded Science in the Courtroom,” the third in our new lunchtime series, Ethics and Eats. Featuring the preeminent DNA scientist Dr. Mark Perlin and criminal defense attorney Michael Machen, among others, this seminar will explore critical ethical issues potentially stemming from the use of unsubstantiated or “junk” science and forensic experts in the courtroom.

This program is approved by the Pennsylvania CLE Board as both an ONSITE and an ONLINE program for two (2) hours of Ethics CLE credit. It is also open to the general public and other professionals as a strictly onsite seminar.
